What is LEM?

Software, technology and associated business processes are continuously developed in today's world. High return rate of software for the companies in the long run can only be achieved by continuously updating the software and adding new features and this increases the companies' need for support equipped with up-to-date business and process models so that they can attain the present-day financial and administrative standards.

As Logo, we offer to our users the LEM (Logo Enterprise Membership) based on the principle of mutual and long-term trust in order to satisfy such needs of our users. We work with a wide range of development, support and consultant teams in order to get the most benefit from the software used.

LEM is an annual membership system which allows the Logo product users to benefit from new features and changes which are not sold as independent modules free of charge.
